

Junior Consultant

Are you a business informatics student and looking for professional work experience?

As a business informatics student from the 4th semester onwards, free-com solutions, an internationally operating software company based in Vienna, offers you a suitable start as a professional Junior Consultant.

We are looking for

- all genders, 20h+/weeks
- Student of business informatics, 4th semester and later
- Independent, responsible way of working
- Solution-orientated thinking, quality awareness
- Willingness to participate in advanced training
- Good knowledge of English

(Other foreign languages are welcome)

- Knowledge in the following areas

(Desirable but not a requirement):

- Databases/SQL
- Interface technologies (API, REST, ...)
- Basic experience with the programming language C# and VisualStudio
- Experience with M365

Your tasks

- Participation in the conception and implementation of ECM/DMS projects
- Development of interface components
- Support and further development of existing projects
- Independent and team-oriented work in international projects in the environment of Microsoft SharePoint, Dynamics 365, SAP and other modern technologies

What defines us

- Ambitious, professional team
- Flat hierarchies
- Frequent team events (barbecues, archery, business runs, etc.)
- Flexible part-time models / working hours within normal office hours
- Home office possible
- Central location next to TU Wien (1040) with good transport connections
- Low-cost canteen with daily fresh salads, lunch and deserts
- Training academy
- Performance-orientated remuneration

Salary and Contact

The salary is 31.864€/year (on a full-time basis) and there is a willingness to overpay. The actual target annual salary is in line with the market and will be determined according to the experience, qualifications and agreed weekly working hours.

Are you interested? Then we look forward to receiving your detailed application!

Send your application to:
jobs@free-com.eu